

NIH Application Changes for 2019

Significant Dates

- January 25th, 2019 or later: Application changes take effect involving the Rigor and Reproducibility Policy, inclusion reporting, and new human subjects exemption criteria.
- February 5th, 2019 due date or later: Must prepare proposal using the new or re-issued Parent FOAs.

New

- New Parent FOAs for Basic Experimental Studies with Humans (BESH) issued.
- Parent FOAs for most Research (R-series) and Career Development Awards (K-awards) have been re-issued.

Key Takeaways

- Participation in all FOAs will vary by NIH Institutes and Centers (ICs).
- Check the FOA carefully for a listing of participating ICs.
- Contact a Scientific Program Official to discuss the appropriate FOA to be used for your particular project.

Started preparing your application?

- Double check that you are using either the new or re-issued FOA for the February 5th due date or later.

For more information

- See our webpage NEW Application Changes for 2019:
<https://research.columbia.edu/new-nih-foas-and-application-changes-2019>